Committees of Management Reform Program

About the CoM Reform Program

Strengthening Victoria's CoM Model to optimise public value from our portfolio of Crown land reserves in collaboration with the community and our partners.

In 2018 the Victorian Auditor General's Office (VAGO) conducted a follow-up audit to its 2013-14 audit of the oversight and support of voluntary committees of management (CoMs). The audit identified a suite of issues to be addressed.

In response, the Department of Environment Land Water and Planning (DELWP) established a comprehensive program of work to identify and implement appropriate reform activity.

The purpose of the CoM Reform Program is to:

- Strengthen the governance and management of Crown land reserves managed by CoMs
- Strengthen the department's oversight of CoMs governance and management of Crown land reserves
- Increase the department's support to CoMs
- Respond to the intent of the 11 recommendations in the VAGO Report 2018

Those employed to drive this reform at a regional level are the Committees of Management Program Officers (COMPOs).

The CoM Reform Program has identified volunteer recognition, occasions for CoM members to network with each other, and opportunities undertake some training specific to the needs of committees as activities that will aid in the implementation of appropriate reform.

A number of these events have occurred across the regions with further offerings to be scheduled in the new year.

Recognition

Recognising our Volunteers

DELWP acknowledges the work you do on behalf of your community as a member of a committee of management, and thanks you for your continued commitment to managing the region's valuable public assets.

DELWP acknowledges the work that is undertaken on behalf of communities by the members of Crown land reserves committees of management. As thanks for the continued commitment to managing the state's valuable public assets several Volunteer Recognition events have been held state-wide. These events have been a highlight of the CoM Reform Program and well received by the recipients and their respective communities.

For more information about the Recognition program contact your local COMPO.

Premier declares state of disaster across eastern Victoria

As you will all be aware Victoria has come face to face with significant additional risk as a result of the devastating bushfires that were burning across the Gippsland and Hume regions.

While the protection of lives, livelihoods and private property is paramount and takes precedence, we do acknowledge and appreciate the efforts volunteers and communities have undertaken in managing the protection of public land assets where possible. We recognise the added stress and burden that being a committee of management volunteer entails in these trying times and thank you all whole heartedly for your dedication to community.

Barwon South West Recognition

Did you know the Barwon South West region's 200 committees of management are responsible for managing 520,000 hectares of state Crown land for the benefit of all Victorians? These volunteers support a broad range of public amenities and uses, such as halls, showgrounds, gardens, bushland, caravan parks, foreshores, sporting facilities, playgrounds, swimming pools, walking tracks and rail trails.

Over the past several months, our team has hit the road to recognise the hard work of committee of management volunteers across the Barwon South West region. With nine whole committees and 10 individuals being nominated through this year's recognition program, around 100 people were recognised and presented with a certificate.

Hume Recognition

Committees of Management and their volunteers across north east Victoria are being acknowledged for the vital service they provide to communities.

DELWP is holding ceremonies across the Hume region and will present 12 awards to Committees of Management and individual committee members for the important work they undertake by managing Crown land for the benefit of local communities.

“Committees of Management play a critical role in providing opportunities for residents to enjoy public land areas by maintaining and improving the sites, whether they are sporting facilities, caravan parks, camping sites and other areas,” DELWP Hume Regional Director, Clare Kiely said

“These awards not only recognise the Committees of Management and outstanding individual members, but specially the volunteers who give up their own time to manage public land for the benefit of the community.

“Seven committees and five individual members have been recognised, including the Mudgegonga Reserve Hall Committee, for its work to complete a major refurbishment of the site before the 10th anniversary of the Black Saturday bushfires. During the past 12 months the committee has undertaken significant refurbishment works at the site, including the installation of a plaque to commemorate the bushfires,” Ms Kiely said.

Other recipients include:

- Kiewa Memorial Park Reserve Committee (pictured above)
- Bernard Priestley from Toolangi Recreation Reserve Committee
- Nerida Kerr from Barnawartha Recreation Reserve Committee of Management

Loddon Mallee Recognition

The Loddon Mallee Region has 220 committees of management who take an active role in managing, maintaining and improving public assets in their communities.

The Land and Built Environment team of DELWP provides a direct link between the committees and the department and are grateful for their work in maintaining community assets on Crown land.

As appreciation for the work the volunteers undertake several Recognition events have been held across the region with individuals and whole committees being acknowledged.

Those committees recognised have included:

- Redesdale Recreation Reserve Committee
- Maryborough Benevolent Society

Recently the CoM received planning approval to remove a dilapidated toilet block and construct a new facility in its place.

Three members of the Kyabram Racecourse and Recreation Reserve committee were recently recognised for a combined 120 years of service to the community.

Leon Pettifer, Ian Purdey and Stuart Gemmill received certificates acknowledging their commitment and dedication to operating important recreation facilities for the community.

The Green Lake Regional Park CoM have been recognised for their efforts over the last 8 years to gain government funding to repair the lake bed.

The CoM commenced soil testing to determine why the lake was losing water, then gained funding to prepare a business case. Armed with a confirmed strategy for repair they successfully sought further funding ensuring that the lake bed would be reconstructed under the $2 million Bringing Water Back to Green Lake project.

Ground works to repair the lake bed included removing stumps (which had penetrated the lake bed floor contributing to the seepage) and lining the base and sides with clay. Civil construction works took approximately four months.

Having the lake full again provides great community benefit as it is a vital asset to the area as a social hub and tourist attraction.

At the same time, the CoM continued to apply for grants to improve and maintain the infrastructure, including the addition of more power sites. Additionally, the local school, Tyrrell College, undertook construction projects, providing picnic tables and fire pits for the reserve.

The Kyabram Racecourse and Recreation Reserve includes an 18-hole golf course, harness racetrack, small bore rifle club and other public facilities.

“Mr Pettifer has been a member of the volunteer committee for 51 years, ever since the combined committee was established,” said DELWP Land and Built Environment Program Officer Julie Wynd.

"He has helped the complex grow from a claypan to having wonderful facilities that are used and enjoyed by many local groups and members of the community.

"Mr Pettifer has been a prominent member of the Parkland Golf Club which is now home to the Victorian Par 3 Golf Titles, which shows what a great facility has been developed over the years.

"Mr Purdey has been a member of the committee for 42 years, holding the position of Treasurer for 25 years and Secretary for nine years. Along with fellow volunteer Glen Smith, Mr Purdey was instrumental in securing a grant to build a carpark at the complex in 2012 which has made a huge difference to users of the facility.

"Mr Gemmill has been a member of the volunteer committee for 27 years and his knowledge of water issues has made him invaluable.

"He has been instrumental in consolidating the site's water rights, ensuring future water for supply to the Golf and Trotting clubs.

"On behalf of DELWP I would like to thank Mr Pettifer, Mr Purdey and Mr Gemmill for the significant effort and time they've devoted to carrying out their duties and providing significant social and economic benefit to the Kyabram community and the region."

Networking and Training

Committees of management will soon be able to participate in several networking events being ran across the state as part of a Committees of Management Reform Program initiative.

DELWP surveyed CoM volunteers to help identify how best to provide support. Targeted light training and networking sessions on key topics are currently being offered as a result of the feedback. The Grampians Region commenced their first networking event in November, and this will continue to be offered in each of the regions this year.

Committee members will have the opportunity to connect and engage with other CoMs, local government and DELWP staff, so they can support and share information, build on knowledge and gain valuable 'take home tips' that will help them manage, improve and maintain their Crown reserve.

Grampians Region CoM Networking Opportunity

The Clarendon Recreation Reserve hosted the first Grampians Region CoM Networking event in their new off-grid purpose-built community hub. DELWP staff were joined by Darren Sadler from the City of Ballarat, Donna Hart from the Clarendon Recreation Reserve and Cherie Graham from the Moorabool Shire Council to discuss planning for the future and financial sustainability.

The Clarendon Recreation Reserve CoM shared the story of building an important community asset with local community members and businesses. The committee provided over 1,000 in-kind volunteer hours supporting the construction and project management of the building.

Comments received following the Ballarat CoM Networking event included: "Thank you for an informative night. Well done. We have a plan moving forward." "Very well organised night! Lots of information. Lots of ideas for grants." "Fantastic! Learnt a lot."

The next networking opportunities will be held in early 2020 at the Ararat Racecourse & Recreation Reserve CoM and the Kalkee Recreation Reserve CoM, near Horsham.
